- It is worth noting that the stock split process will take place after the end of the trading session on the dates listed in the table above. The new nominal value and the adjusted market price of the share will be effective on the following business day. The adjusted market price will be calculated by dividing the share's closing price by 10. On the other hand, the quantity (number of shares) in the investor's portfolio will be multiplied by 10.
- It is also worth noting that Vodafone Qatar's current nominal value is QR5 and will be split into QR1.
